

If the review is to save the corporation from privatization, i am a letter carrier out of winnipeg and i am shocked at the lengths that Canada post will go to save there supervisors, the Labour relations cost have to be in the millions of dollars for things that could be worked out instead of a grievence and if not resolved it then goes to a arbitrator at 350 dollars per hour not to mention the travel and expences of the arbitrator human rights violations are taking over 3 years to be heard, the staff it is taking to hear these grievence at first level, then to 2nd level and finaly to a arbitrator
Just be fair and treat people the way you would want to be treated.
