

To whom it may concern:

Canada Post provides an essential, public coast-to-coast service.

Canadians have the reputation of being quiet and polite. But watch what happens if they can't mail a letter at a reasonable cost, or get uniform door-to-door delivery.

Canadians would have expressed their views, if the review had been held with public hearings, and beyond the four months of summer.

Litmus Test: Harper, I dare you to release the results of the Strategic Review during the upcoming election that you want so badly.
