

I am concerned to what options Canada Post will consider to make rural mail delivery viable.

I would like to be kept abreast of any proposed changes to rural mail delivery, specifically relating to "super mailbox" locations, given it is my assumption rural home delivery will be eventually phased out.

Canada Post should allow rural communities to comment on any proposed changes to rural mail delivery route changes, well in advance of implementing these changes.

Ken Szijarto

ON